

The FCC should not implement any proposal that would lessen Indiana's Telephone Privacy law protections. Indiana's Telephone Privacy law has allowed us to have family dinners with out interuptions. The time we have together as a family is limited and should not be interupted by conpmaines that put marketing ahead of family values. The number of calls we get has dropped from 5-6 per week to zero. This is a good law don't be influanaced by the money people.
